

Company Environment Policy

Recycling being the very foundation of our existence and the nature of our operations categorizing us as a heavy industry, Associated Steel Industries Ltd. considers it is essential for its sustainable success that the conduct of its activities be done with the utmost respect for the general interest of present and future generations, in particular by minimizing its environmental footprint.

With the overall objective of achieving environmental excellence, we must therefore identify and implement the best existing practices in this area and plan investments with the environmental concept in the forefront, by targeting the best available economically viable technologies, all to minimize exposure to environmental hazards for our staff and communities living near our site.

Beyond strict adherence to the environmental laws and regulations that govern our operations, we must continuously act proactively to improve our environmental performance.
