

Environmental Policy

Recycling being the very foundation of our existence and the nature of our operations categorizing us as a heavy industry, Associated Steel Industries Ltd. considers it essential for its sustainable success that the conduct of its activities be done with the utmost respect for the general interest of current and future generations, in particular by minimizing its environmental footprint.

With the overall objective of achieving environmental excellence, we must therefore ensure that we identify and implement the best existing practices in this area and plan investments with the environmental concept in mind, targeting the best available technologies, all to minimize exposure to environmental risks for our employees and for the communities living near our site.

Beyond strict compliance with the environmental laws and regulations that govern our operations, we must continually be proactive in improving our environmental performance.
